YOUR VOICE
MATTERS

Help shape Adult Social Care in Telford and Wrekin

No experience needed – just your ideas and passion.

What is co-production?

We believe that people with lived experience of directly accessing care and support for themselves, their carers, family members, advocates, or anyone with real insight into how adult social care impacts their life have vital knowledge that can genuinely improve Adult Social Care services.

How we do this?

- Share your ideas and experiences
- Share decisions about what matters
- Develop ideas and solutions
- Review plans and policies
- Co-produce and co-design future developments
- Make recommendations for service improvement

Why get involved?

Volunteering in co-production is rewarding and flexible. You can:

- Make a real difference to local Adult Social Care services
- Use your lived experience to help improve how services work
- Learn new skills and build your confidence
- Meet new people and feel more connected to your community
- Have your voice heard, valued and acted upon

You do not need qualifications - just your experience, time, passion and ideas.
