Benefits of the community

The aim of the Horsehay Pool management proposal plan is to formulate a long term plan for the future of the site to maximise the benefits for the community while focusing on on a balance between ecology, conservation and heritage of the area. Liaising with key stakeholders to deliver improvements and create a better community space for residents and site users.

Ecology and conservation

Horsehay Pool is home to a range of plant and wildlife species which can benefit the natural environment. An ecology plan will give a better understanding of the biodiversity and conservation of the area while delivering improvements.

In partnership with the local parties of Horsehay Pool, funding can be sought for projects to maximise the ecology and create a stronger link for nature and the community. Project examples are: increased wildflower seeding to encourage small wildlife around the pond.

Fishing

Liaising with the Telford Angling Association, longer licenses and an angling handbook are currently being considered. With aims to improve fishing pegs and install an accessibility fishing peg, creating a more diverse and user-friendly location to fish.

General site improvements

The south east and south west areas around Horsehay Pool have the potential for improvements. Examples of general improvements to these areas include: resurfacing; extended car parking; improved seating and a refurbished bicycle stand will have a positive impact on the community creating a more welcoming impression to local residents and site visitors as well as increased accessibility for a wider range of users.

Updated signage will be both attractive and informative and will improve the educational value purposes of the area.

Residential and community space

Planning and funding for extra amenities such as a viewing platform, picnic benches and a naturalised play trail will improve the residential and community space and encourage use of the green space, creating an overall better quality of life within the community.

Funding

A number of schemes are to be investigated in more detail and scoped to enable potential sources of funding to be identified and secured.

This will be carried out in liaison with stakeholders of Horsehay Pool.
